York, The people did not ask for the bill; the Bar did not ask for it; the Surrogate did not ask for it. It was indisputably a political measure, designed Entered at the Post-Office at New York as second. to create a fat office for a leader who must be provided for, and a goodly batch of patronage for a number of political followers. in cases of their inability or of a vacancy." Neither of these sections authorizes the election of more than one Surrogate in any county of the State. In fact, they confine the election to a single Surrogate.

Naturally, the business of the Surrogate's Court in New York increases with the increase in population and wealth. Yet it is not in arrears: no complaint is heard of delay in the court and the Surro. gate has not asked for relief. But where 7th is more than a fortnight away. relief is needed the Constitution prescribes just how it shall be afforded. Sec. tion 27 of Article 6 provides that "for the as he is with his dumb-bells and six- would say. relief of Surrogates' courts the Legisla- ounce gloves. ture may confer upon courts of record in any county having a population exceeding 400,000 the powers and jurisdiction of Surrogates, with authority to try issues of fact by jury in probate cases."

The question of the constitutionality of this law ought to be settled before election. The acts of a Surrogate unconstitutionally elected might be productive of very serious evils.
